Dear Richard, hello.

I am the Executive Director of the Justice Collaboratory at Yale Law School – Tracey Meares shared your contact information with me. Thank you so much for inviting us to present at the LA Board of Police Commissioner’s forum on police reform.

I’m writing to confirm that you’d still like the JC to present this Thursday at your meeting? I would love to get a few more details if possible, and feel free to call my cell if it’s easier to chat [REDACTED].

1. Will we present right at 4:00, or will we wait until chosen to present? Do you have a time estimate?
2. Can we pre-record a video that you could show?
3. Will you please send the Zoom meeting details?
4. Is it ok to have multiple people participate on our end?

Thank you,
Caroline

Hi Caroline

Yes we would like the Yale Justice Collaboratory to present on October 1. Presentation time would be 420pm PDT. Each organization is being provided 10 minutes for their presentation.

Pre-recorded video is fine if you provide it we will show at the presenters direction.

Multiple presenters are fine if you would just provide their names so we can identify them.

I will send the webinar info shortly.

All the best

Hi Caroline:

Thank you so much for getting back to Richard Tefank. I wonder if you or anyone from your team might be available sometime in the next week for a conversation that will last no longer than an hour. I realize this is a great imposition, but hope you will consider.

As you may recall, on behalf of the LA Police Commission I organized an Advisory Committee in the hopes of accelerating the Commission's work during this time of great need for meaningful police reform. I am fortunate that an exceptional group of individuals with varied experiences volunteered their time and contributed greatly to the development of ideas and recommendations for police reform. The Advisory Committee is in the final weeks of conducting their work. Of course the work of the Commission itself will continue long after that, but the Advisory Committee recommendations will effectively be a roadmap for the Commission's work in the months ahead. All recommendations are due Nov 9th. Given our timeline, I wonder if you might have any flexibility.

If not, I certainly understand as a commissioner I will engage with you at your convenience. Nevertheless, I hope you might entertain an imposition on your calendar as I know the work of the Advisory Committee will benefit from your insights.

Thank you for considering.

Eileen

Hi Richard,

Thank you so much for the opportunity. I will be candid that Tom, Tracey, and I are fully booked in October, but could likely make time for this in early November. Does that timeline work on your end? Maybe if we do week 4?

We appreciate your invite, and hope to make it work.

Hello Caroline,

Trust you are well. I would like to thank you on behalf of the Los Angeles Police Commission and their Commission Advisory Committee for the presentation on October 1 by you, Dr. Mears and Tom Tyler. Our Commission Advisory Sub-Committee on Recruitment, Hiring, Retention and Training are interested in hearing more about the work you all are doing in the area of training. You mentioned in your presentation the training that was presented to the Mexico City police which interests them.

This sub-committee meets on Wednesday at 5:00PM PDT via Zoom. They will be meeting for the next four weeks before they conclude their meetings and begin to finalize their recommendations to the Police Commission. Would you and your colleagues be available for about a 30 minutes presentation to the group with time for Q&A? If the time and day do not work if you could suggest an alternate I will attempt to work that out.

Thank you in advance for your consideration our request and should you have any questions please let me know.

All the best,

Richard

Hi Richard, trying from here just to be safe.

I will speak for two minutes, and then you can 1ue up the video. Then Tom Tyler will speak (JC's co founder), followed by Tracey.

Here is the agenda:

7:20 – 7:22: Caroline introduces the JC, and roadmap for rest of presentation *PLAY VIDEO

7:22 – 7:24: Elizabeth Hinton's video on reconciliation
7:24 – 7:26: Camila's video on Mexico City procedural justice police training
7:26 – 7:28: Tom gives short overview of community vitality survey
7:28 – 7:30: Tracey wraps up

Hi Caroline:

Thank you so much for getting back to Richard Tefank. I wonder if you or anyone from your team might be available sometime in the next week for a conversation that will last no longer than an hour. I realize this is a great imposition, but hope you will consider.

As you may recall, on behalf of the LA Police Commission I organized an Advisory Committee in the hopes of accelerating the Commission's work during this time of great need for meaningful police reform. I am fortunate that an exceptional group of individuals with varied experiences volunteered their time and contributed greatly to the development of ideas and recommendations for police reform. The Advisory Committee is in the final weeks of conducting their work. Of course the work of the Commission itself will continue long after that, but the Advisory Committee recommendations will effectively be a roadmap for the Commission's work in the months ahead. All recommendations are due Nov 9th. Given our timeline, I wonder if you might have any flexibility.

If not, I certainly understand as a commissioner I will engage with you at your convenience. Nevertheless, I hope you might entertain an imposition on your calendar as I know the work of the Advisory Committee will benefit from your insights.

Thank you for considering.

Hi Richard,

Thank you so much for the opportunity. I will be candid that Tom, Tracey, and I are fully booked in October, but could likely make time for this in early November. Does that timeline work on your end? Maybe if we do week 4?

We appreciate your invite, and hope to make it work.
Caroline

Subject: Request for Presentation

Hello Caroline,

Trust you are well. I would like to thank you on behalf of the Los Angeles Police Commission and their Commission Advisory Committee for the presentation on October 1 by you, Dr. Mears and Tom Tyler. Our Commission Advisory Sub-Committee on Recruitment, Hiring, Retention and Training are interested in hearing more about the work you all are doing in the area of training. You mentioned in your presentation the training that was presented to the Mexico City police which interests them.

This sub-committee meets on Wednesday at 5:00PM PDT via Zoom. They will be meeting for the next four weeks before they conclude their meetings and begin to finalize their recommendations to the Police Commission. Would you and your colleagues be available for about a 30 minutes presentation to the group with time for Q&A? If the time and day do not work if you could suggest an alternate I will attempt to work that out.

Thank you in advance for your consideration our request and should you have any questions please let me know.

All the best,

Richard
